Notes: All permits shall be on display at the site of the project prior to any work being started. If a permit is not on display at the site or a permit has not been attained, the individual/contractor doing the work may incur an investigation fee of $250.00 for the first offense and each additional infraction will increase to $1,000.00. If a fire permit is not on display at the site or a permit has not been attained, the individual/contractor doing the work may incur an investigation fee of ½ of the original permit fee. This fee is in addition to any permit fees or criminal charges. If it has been determined that work has been done prior to pulling the permit the contractor must cease doing any further work until a permit has been issued unless it has been determined by the Building Official that it is an emergency situation.

If the contractor’s declared building permit valuations appear unreasonably low staff can use International Code Council’s (ICC) most current valuation table to verify accuracy of declared value. If the declared building permits value is 10% less than the ICC’s determined value then staff can use the ICC value instead or staff can request the contractor to provide the bid to verify the declared amount.
