IDENTITY THEFT
IDENTITY THEFT
IF YOU'RE A VICTIM...

Identity thieves steal personal information, such as credit account numbers, social security numbers or driver’s license numbers. Then, they open up accounts in a consumer’s name and run up charges on the account. Or, they use the personal information to charge goods and services to a consumer’s existing accounts. In other cases, they may work or even be arrested while using the victim’s name.

The harm to a consumer’s credit and daily life can be devastating. Victims of identity theft often have trouble getting new credit cards or loans because of the damage to their credit ratings.

According to the Identity Theft Data Clearinghouse, the most common types of identity theft are:

- Using or opening a credit card account fraudulently
- Opening telecommunication or utility accounts fraudulently
- Passing bad checks or opening a new bank account
- Getting loans in another person’s name
- Working in another person’s name

If you suspect that your personal information has been stolen and misappropriated to commit fraud or theft take action immediately, and keep a record of your conversations and correspondence. Exactly which steps you should take to protect yourself depends on your circumstances and how your identity has been misused.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO...

There are three basic actions that are appropriate in almost every case:
FIRST

File a police report with your local law enforcement agency or the police in the community where the identity took place.

Get a copy of the police report in case the bank, credit card company or others need proof of the crime. Even if the police can’t catch the identity thief in your case, having a copy of the report can help you when dealing with creditors. You can call the Shenandoah Police Department Records Division at 281-367-8952 to learn how to obtain a copy of the public release section of your report.

SECOND

Immediately contact the three major credit bureau’s fraud departments to report the theft: Equifax, Experian and Trans Union.

Tell them that you’re an identity theft victim. Request that a “Fraud Alert” be placed on your file, as well as a victim’s statement asking that creditors call you before opening any new accounts or changing your existing accounts. This can help prevent an identity thief from opening additional accounts in your name. At the same time, order copies of your credit reports from the credit bureaus.

THIRD

Contact creditors immediately on any accounts that have been tampered with or opened fraudulently.

Creditors can include credit card companies, phone companies and other utilities, as well as banks and other lenders. Ask to speak with someone in the security or fraud department of each creditor and follow-up with a letter. It’s particularly important to notify credit card companies in writing because that’s the consumer protection procedure that law spells out for resolving errors on credit card billing statements.

Immediately close accounts that have been tampered with and open new ones with new Personal Identification Numbers (PIN’s) and passwords. Avoid using easily available information like your mother’s maiden name, your birth date, the last four digits of your social security number, your phone number or a series of consecutive numbers.
